Girolamo Ruscelli, Nueva Hispania Tabula Nova, engraving on paper, 19 x 24.5 cm., from La Geografia di Claudio Tolomeo (Venice: Ruscelli, 1564; first published in 1561). UT Arlington Libraries Special Collections, Gift of Virginia Garrett

Ruscelli’s 1561 map of New Spain was an enlarged copy of fellow Venetian Giacomo Gastaldi’s 1548 map of New Spain, but with a major difference: Ruscelli’s map showed Yucatan correctly as a peninsula, not an island. Both were New World addendum maps for “modern” editions of the 2nd century Greek geographer Claudius Ptolemy’s book on geography.
